

SIERRA MADRE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HAS LOYAL SUPPORT FOR A GREATER PROGRAM

Guests Fill To Capacity Old Adobe Hall

Nearly 65 Sierra Madreans gave a vote of confidence to the Chamber of Commerce when they attended the dinner given Friday night at the Old Adobe. If any doubt has existed as to whether a Chamber is wanted here by the public and business houses, it was dispelled by the ticket reservation which was completely sold out.

A. E. Morgan planned the entertainment and made all arrangements for the evening. He presented two young musicians in a preliminary act, William Morley and Joanne Stanley of Pasadena, accordionists, delighted their audience with their solos and duo selections.

President Richard A. Hawks extended a warm welcome to the members and guests and suggested that they keep in mind the coming election of board members which will be December 16th.

The speakers of the evening, Henry Kears, past National President of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and E. J. Simmons, manager of the Monrovia Chamber of Commerce were introduced by Harry A. Lange. Mr. Kears summarized the function of a Chamber of Commerce to a city as a "Co-ordinating Body". The practical operations in this locale of a Chamber, discussed by Mr. Simmons, was full of suggestions applicable to Sierra Madre.

Among the distinguished visitors introduced were E. D. Burkbank of Carter Ave., a member of the US Chamber of Commerce before coming to Sierra Madre, and a man who has devoted much of his time to Chamber of Commerce work.

T. E. Burgess Buys Sierra News Stand

Sale of the Sierra News Stand at 15 Kersten to Thomas E. Burgess of 390 North Baldwin Ave. was announced this week by the owners, Velya Suvascky and Susan Stanajev.

Mr. Burgess is well known in Sierra Madre having lived here for the past four years. He was Sierra Madre representative of the Helms Bakeries for two years, and for over a year owned and operated a grocery and market in Pasadena, which he sold prior to purchasing the News Stand.

Before coming to Sierra Madre, Mr. and Mrs. Burgess lived in San Diego, where he was district manager of a large chain grocery organization.

The new owner has been engaged in food distribution ever since he finished school. He plans to re-organize the restaurant facilities at the News Stand, serving breakfast, hot plate lunches, sandwiches and fountain service. The complete line of magazines and newspapers will also be continued.

Burglary Suspects Confess

Solution of at least one of the daylight burglaries which were committed in the Sierra Madre area six weeks ago was indicated last week with the arrest in San Bernardino County of William T. and Edward G. Webb, brothers of Costa Mesa.

The two men confessed burglarizing the James W. McLeod home at 265 Rancho Road on October 10, according to a communication received by Chief of Police Gordon McMillan. They also admitted having cashed a $100 U. S. treasury check which was stolen at that time along with a quantity of jewelry and several watches.

Admission of the theft by the two men, resulted from a hunch of Chief McMillan, who learning of their arrest by the San Bernardino sheriff's office, asked the two be questioned about the local crime. More than 25 other crimes in San Bernardino, Orange and Los Angeles counties were admitted by the pair.

Local Man of Many Careers Carries on as Inventor-Artist In Studio Home

Henry Hawthurst Perfects His Mechanical Scarecrow

A man of unusually varied careers is Henry Hawthurst, inventor, artist, political cartoonist and vaudeville actor, of 118 Esperanza Street.

Mr. Hawthurst, who has long been intimately associated with the local community of artists, received patent on his first invention in 1897, a selective telephone call apparatus, for which he received a lucrative offer from General Electric. Before the deal was closed, however, the dial telephone was developed and the young inventor heeded the call of the arts to study at the Mark Hopkins Institute in San Francisco.

Graduating from art school, he turned to the newspaper field and became one of the West's leading political cartoonists. Among the newspapers on which he worked were the Globe and the Call in San Francisco and the Los Angeles Times.

Among his most famous cartoons were "Standing Pat" which portrayed the Japanese Mikado playing poker with Uncle Sam, who held almost all the chips. This appeared in the San Francisco Globe in 1909 and due to its prophetic nature has since occasioned much comment.

Another of his cartoons to create much interest was one of the Gans-Nelson prize fight in 1906 at Goldfield, Nevada. In 1904, the cartoonist made his first trip to Sierra Madre to visit his mother and sister who were living here. Riding up from the Santa Anita railroad station in the old bus operated by S. R. G. Tveitross, he fell in love with Sierra Madre.

He returned to San Francisco, but a few years later came to make his home here, and for several years was associated with the Los Angeles Times as editorial cartoonist.

From cartooning, Hawthurst turned to serious oil painting and began teaching art classes in the Old Barn studio on Bonita Street. At one time he had nearly 100 pupils.

In 1932 he was instrumental

City Garbage Question To Be Considered By Council Tues.

Local Man Injured In Collision

Paul Robert of 231 East Montecito Ave. was seriously injured Tuesday afternoon, when the motor scooter on which he was riding was involved in a collision with an automobile on East Washington Blvd. in Pasadena.

Mr. Robert suffered several broken ribs, numerous cuts and bruises and possible internal injuries. At last report from St. Luke's hospital, he was reported to be resting comfortably. The impact of the accident was so great, that he was thrown from the scooter and carried for some distance on the front end of the car.

Robert, who is a registered nurse, had been on private duty in St. Luke's hospital with one of the blast victims of last summer's jet-plant explosion at Azusa. He was on the way to another nursing case at the time of the accident.

Oak Tree Inn Opens Monday

Driving East on Foothill a lovely neon sign has attracted the eye on approaching Rosemead. The green sign reads "Oak Tree Inn" but until very recently the public had not known when it would be welcome. But next Monday the place will be open and the Southland's newest restaurant will serve food in delightful surroundings.

Black Beauty Starts at Local Theatre Sunday

The long looking "Black Beauty" is coming to the Sierra Madre Theatre next week, November 24-25 and 26. This picture is made from the famous story by Anna Sewell.

The "Black Beauty" advertised for last week which should have read "Wild Beauty" is not to be confused with the real "Black Beauty".

New Health Confection Developed by Frank Bower Now Available Locally

Local Food Chemist Hears From Austria and China

A new health confection, developed and distributed by the Bower Family Laboratories on West Highland Ave., is now being offered on the local retail market. The candy, known as "Dex-Tro-Mix" is a tasteful, chewy product with a peppermint flavor.

The new confection is one of many food products which Frank W. Bower, Sierra Madre's well known food research chemist, has developed in the 38 years he has been experimenting with alfalfa as human food.

Containing corn syrup, wheat germ, green alfalfa leaves, pacific ocean kelp, powdered carob, soy bean flour, essence of peppermint and New Orleans molasses, the candy is designed as a quick source of energy.

Eight pieces of "Dex-Tro-Mix" will, it is said, provide the following minimum proportions of the minimum daily requirements for adults:

600 USP units of Vitamin D 150%
Calcium 54%
Phosphorus 43%
Iodine 100%
Calories 400

Bower, in 1908 became so intrigued with the possibilities of

City Garbage Question To Be Considered By Council Tues.

Local Man Injured In Collision

Second reading of the proposed new city ordinance will be heard at the regular meeting of the City Council, Tuesday evening.

Under discussion for several months before its drafting, the new measure proposes a charge of $100 per month for all single householders in the city, with an added charge of 25 cents for each additional house on the same property, with a maximum charge of $400 per month.

The new ordinance is designed to help meet the rising cost of city government, and is expected to raise an average of $10,000 yearly.

MOST RAINFALL TO NOVEMBER 20 SINCE 1901

A total of 2.27 inches of rainfall was recorded on the Sierra Madre pumping station rain gauge for the 24 hours ending at 8 a. m. Wednesday. This brings the seasonal total to date to 10.11 inches, the highest since 1901. The highest rainfall in Sierra Madre since 1901, according to Street and Water Superintendent, Joe Swanson.

Last season's rainfall at this time was only 1.11 inches, and the total for last season was somewhat below the average, which makes it appear that the present rainy season may be making up for some of the extra dry years.

Lions Club Hears Civic Welfare Plans Ladies Night to be Christmas Week

Sierra Madre Lions Club held their monthly business session at their dinner meeting Tuesday night when each executive chairman reported his committee's progress and plans for civic welfare to be effective in 1947.

President Ben Gossweiler announced there will be an important dinner meeting at the home tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p. m. All board members are requested to attend.

Carl Peterson, chairman of Boys and Girls Activities told members of plans for a Lions sponsored Sea Scout Troop in Sierra Madre. He will welcome interviews with any applicant for the position. The troop master must have had Sea Scout training and preferably be a Navy veteran of World War II. Any man residing within the Sierra Madre district, who is qualified for this type of work and willing to assume the responsibility of leadership should communicate with Mr. Peterson at Custer 5-6201.

Lions Club Ladies' Night will be held during the Christmas holidays when members and their families will join for a social evening. Reservations are now being made for the Lions Convention to be held at San Francisco in July.

Executive officer pins were presented to Ben Gossweiler, president, Harold Hamm, secretary and Tom Dunsen, treasurer. Capt. E. G. Everett was presented with the past president's pin and certificate. Miss Hazel Hurst of the Hazel Hurst Foundation for the Blind, will be the principal speaker at next week's meeting, telling of training procedure and work being done by the Foundation. A. E. CITY OFFICIALS ATTEND MEETING OF SEWER DIST.

Mayor J. Milton Steinberger, City Councilmen John Froelich and City Engineer Joseph Hurley attend a regular meeting of County Sewer District No. 15 Wednesday afternoon, at El Segundo. A scheduled trip of sewer outfall inspection, was postponed because of new weather, and the officials were conducted through the El Segundo refinery of Standard Oil Company.

Tax Protest Advice From City Clerk

City Clerk Eddie D. Robertson this week asked that all complaints about high taxes stop and think before taking out their anger on city employees.

The City Clerk suggested that those with complaints about the sharp rise in tax valuations prepare to submit them to the County Board of Equalization in Los Angeles, during the annual protest period next July.

Recalling that the Books showing the increased valuation were not returned to Sierra Madre last summer until five days before the protest period ended, Robertson pointed out that two days were required for indexing the tax records so they could be shown the public, leaving only three days in which local people could check their new tax valuations in the city clerk's office while protests were still in order. The books could not be obtained sooner, from the County Assessor's Office.

Although the City Clerk's office is eager to assist taxpayers in any way possible, Sierra Madre city officials do not determine the valuations nor do they set the tax rate, Robertson emphasized.

The county, school and flood control districts each receive their own share of the tax rate, which is fixed by law, and such additional levies as that for the city library and the proposed retirement plan for city employees are determined by local vote. With property valuations determined by the County Assessor and County Board of Equalization, local officials have little part in either the determination of tax rates or the expenditure of tax funds, the city clerk said.

School Lunch Prices Rise, Except Milk

The consistent rise in food prices has forced the Sierra Madre elementary school cafeteria to increase the cost of plate lunches from 20 to 25 cents. The action was approved at a regular meeting of the Board of Trustees, Wednesday night.

At the same time, Superintendent Charles A. Skutt pointed out that the cost of milk is being held at 5 cents per half pint to encourage consumption of this food product. The school will absorb the 2 cent per bottle cost of handling and the cost of straw, rather than jeopardize the milk drinking program.

Plans were drawn up at the meeting to co-operate with the American Red Cross in devoting one period per week to a first aid and safety course for sixth, seventh and eighth grade students. Harry A. Lange is representing the local Red Cross chapter in helping to formulate this program.

WOMAN INJURED IN SERIOUS FALL RESTING NICELY

Dr. Nathan Jacobs was called to the scene, and sent the victim by ambulance to St. Luke's hospital. She was resting comfortably at last report from attendants of the hospital.

Kiwanis Observes 83rd Gettysburg Anniversary With Address By Dr. Wall

Noted Etcher of Lincoln Still Actively at Work In Sierra Madre Studio

BERNHARDT WALL

Dr. Bernhardt Wall Engaged On Many New Projects at 74

A very full life in which he has been privileged to know intimately many of the most famous and best loved figures in American history, and to interpret and record them for posterity, has failed to dampen the enthusiasm of Dr. Bernhardt Wall, famous etcher, who at 74 is still actively at work in his studio at Bella Vista Terrace.

Though best known for his etchings of Abraham Lincoln, who has been the subject of 85 of his etched volumes, his published works also include books of etchings on Thomas Jefferson, Lafayette, Jackson, Whistler, Edwin Markham, Theodore Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Fra Junipero Serra, Sam Houston, Stephen F. Austin, Washington Irving, Robert Browning and many others.

The Library of Congress is now setting up a corner of Wall's works. Several of his etchings also hang in the Huntington Library and Art Gallery, others in the British Museum, the Spanish National Library at Madrid, and in the libraries of many universities, including those of Harvard, Princeton and Yale.

As did the Monks of old, Wall personally designs, etches, prints and binds his own books, in his Sierra Madre studio.

His latest production is a pair of miniature etched books, each of 34 pages, size 1 1/4 by 1 1/4 inches. One is an Abraham Lincoln chronology, the other, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. Both the world's largest book on Lincoln and the smallest publication on the Great Commoner have been eagerly awaited and published by Wall. The former book "Following Abraham Lincoln," comprises 85 volumes on Lincoln and includes some 533 etchings. It weighs over nine pounds. The smallest book, containing Lincoln's speeches in almost microscopic etched printing, weighs only half an ounce and is smaller than a postage stamp.

Dr. Wall has been personally acquainted with almost every president since McKinley, and has etched most of them. In 1915 he sketched Theodore Roosevelt at a Rough Riders' luncheon at the San Diego Exposition. Mrs. Roosevelt later said that this sketch

Pottery Adds Executive To Staff

Marsh-Fairchild-Suman, Inc., has announced the engagement of Tom E. Vinson, formerly of Tucson, Arizona, as general business manager of operations of their pottery plant, 39 E. Montecito.

Mr. Vinson plans on making his permanent home in Sierra Madre, which he appraises as "a wonderful spot in which to live". He has for many years been engaged in the transportation business in Arizona and California, as the owner and operator of his own enterprises.

"This addition to our firm," Mr. Suman says, "fills a long standing gap in our organization, and will enable the present members of our executive staff to devote more specialized time to our much expanded program."

Accident Badly Damages Two Cars at Grandview And Mountain Trail Aves. Note Unobstructed View

A traffic collision between two automobiles at the intersection of Mtn. Trail and Grandview Aves. early Friday morning resulted in damage to both vehicles but no injury to passengers.

The accident occurred about 7:30 a. m. when a car driven by Gordon K. MacKenzie collided with one driven by Mrs. Nell Vieira. Police Officer John A. Rutledge answered a radio call to the scene.

In his statement relative to the accident, MacKenzie said that he was to blame, since he failed to make the boulevard stop at Mtn. Trail and Grandview.

J. C. Loomis, Jr., Named To Club Directorship

Simply and effectively, as befitted the occasion, Dr. Bernhardt Wall, noted etcher of Abraham Lincoln, described the incidents leading to the delivery of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, for members and guests of the Kiwanis Club at their regular Tuesday luncheon.

The talk was in line with Kiwanis observance of the 83rd anniversary of the historical utterance.

The speaker described how on November 19, 1863, the Gettysburg battlefield was dedicated as a National cemetery, following re-interment of the heroic men who had fallen there a few months before.

Invited as speaker of the day, by the committee in charge was the Hon. Edward Everett, most able and most popular orator of his day. President Lincoln was belatedly invited to "make a few remarks," but was not expected to participate prominently.

Dr. Wall described how Lincoln wrote down the remarks he was to make at Gettysburg, in his bedroom on the previous evening. Arriving at the dedication ceremonies, the President sat through the eloquent two hour oration delivered by Edward Everett, which was enthusiastically applauded.

President Lincoln arose and in two minutes delivered his 200 word address. A hush fell over the audience at the unexpected brevity, and Lincoln remarked to someone at his side that "the speech went sour."

A few days later the mail began to bring praise of the President's address at Gettysburg. Editorial approval was voiced in a few newspapers; literary men began to recognize the powerful expressiveness of the words; and statesmen throughout the world pronounced it a definition of Democracy for all time.

The great orator, Edward Everett, a short while later wrote Lincoln "I thought myself I thought my remarks in two hours were as appropriate to the occasion at Gettysburg, as were yours in two minutes."

In closing, Dr. Wall quoted the text of the well known but ever challenging address.

Guests at the luncheon were Homer Peterd of Monrovia and Cecil Askew of Pasadena.

Kiwanians were urged to attend the panel discussion on school problems scheduled for last night at the city school auditorium. Noren Eaton said that attendance at such meetings on public affairs is the duty of every citizen, and declared that there is no excuse for a lack of interest in such events.

John C. Loomis, Jr. was elected unanimously to the board of directors of Kiwanis. Charles A. Skutt gave a report on club attendance.

An announcement was made of an inter-club meeting at Azusa next Wednesday at noon, with the newly organized Azusa Kiwanis Club. Lt. Governor Raymond C. Simpson will speak at the meeting which will be in lieu of the regular Tuesday meeting which will not be held.

Local Schools Join 100% In Jr. Red Cross

Now Packing Gift Boxes for Overseas

Showing a practical concern for the needy children of other lands, students at the Sierra Madre elementary school and St. Rita's parochial school turned in a 100 per cent enrollment in the Junior American Red Cross drive which ended Monday.

Mrs. E. W. Carver acted as local chairman of the drive, assisted by Mrs. L. C. Danver. Members of the Sierra Madre elementary school staff assisting in the drive were Mrs. Hortense Wells, Miss Dorothy Mootie, and Mrs. Vivian Olson.

Following the drive just ended, local school students are, as in previous years, packing gift boxes for children overseas. Mrs. Carver announced. The boxes are small, but hold a surprising number of items.

The boxes will be filled at school under supervision of the same committee which handled last week's drive. Committee members hope that each room will fill at least three of the gift boxes.

In normal times, it has been customary to fill boxes with such items as toys, but special emphasis is now being placed on the inclusion of school and health supplies to help make up for the scarcity of such items in war devastated areas.

Junior Red Cross members, regardless of age, may participate in this project. Also anyone in town who wishes to contribute something for the gift boxes, may send articles to Mrs. Wells' room at the Sierra Madre school. The local schools have shown keen interest in the gift box project in previous years and have been commended for their response, the chairman said.

BALLING BABY TALK

By MAXINE BALLING

MARGARET O'BRIEN in "Three Wise Fools" starts at the Lyric Theater here in Monrovia tonight, Thursday, and you don't want to miss it. She is one of the most talented child stars the screen has ever seen, and she is at her best in "Three Wise Fools."

What does that have to do with the Balling Baby Shop? Well, I thought that if I gave the picture a big plug here, Mr. Nylon, manager of the Lyric Theater, would be so overcome with appreciation that he would come out on the stage and announce after each show that the new MARGARET O'BRIEN TOILETRIES FOR LITTLE GIRLS ARE NOW AVAILABLE IN MONROVIA EXCLUSIVELY AT THE BALLING BABY SHOP!

Yes! And they come in the cutest packages you ever saw, with a picture of Margaret O'Brien in pigtail on every package. There's toilet water, bath powder, bubble bath, tooth paste and brushes, shampoo, and even lipstick (pomade). The deluxe sets with several articles, have special lids with yarn pigtail. The toiletries are of excellent quality for young skins, and delightfully fragrant in an innocent sort of way. None of this fatal tomato stuff. Wonderful gifts for little girls!

Of course if you don't have any little girl to buy gifts for, and have a little boy, we have all kinds of gifts for both girls and boys. Blocks, for instance, aren't limited to ordinary wooden blocks such as you and I played with. Oh no! Now we have plastic blocks, rubber blocks you can bounce right off the grand piano, and blocks in little wagons which serve as disguised inducement to pick 'em up and haul 'em away instead of leaving them on the floor for Daddy to stumble and swear over.

Just received some nice new all-wool shirts in large red-and-black or green-and-black checks, sizes 7 to 14, for $7.95. And some stunning plaid shirts and pedalpusher sets for the older girls. They're like the ones I've seen in Life magazine recently. The two-piece sets are $18.95. We also have the skirts to match, for $9.95.

Whether it's a gift to wear, or to play with, if it's for children or babies, you'll probably find it at the Balling Baby Shop, 401 1/2 S. Myrtle, Monrovia, and we'll wrap it for a gift or for mailing... for free.

The Night Section of the Woman's club is giving a children's party next Monday evening, November 25, at the club house. Children of the members are to be the guests. Mrs. Gleam Drury will be in charge of the party which starts at 7:00 p. m. and precedes the regular business meeting.

Mrs. Ora Olsen, president of the club, is making a survey for a complete list of service people for a permanent list and to make money to buy a ceiling projector for the veterans hospital.

There will be no meeting the week of Thanksgiving. The club is making a survey for a complete list of service people for a permanent list and to make money to buy a ceiling projector for the veterans hospital.

Margaret Bode and Harry Soderquist Wed in San Marino Ceremony Saturday

St. Edmunds Episcopal Church in San Marino was the scene of a beautiful wedding Saturday afternoon at three when Margaret Bode and Harry L. Soderquist were married. The vows were made before the bride's father, Dean Arnold G. H. Bode. In the presence of the two families and a few intimate friends, Dean Bode was assisted by the rector of the church, Rev. William Cowans.

The bride, daughter of Dean and Mrs. Bode of 410 W. Montecito, was groomed in a white brocade satin floor length. The finger tip veil was held by a coronet of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white chrysanthemums and was given away by her brother, Dr. Arnold Bode of Santa Ana.

The matron of honor was Mrs. E. L. Cedarquist, sister of the bride who wore a powder blue taffeta and carried yellow daisies matching the yellow taffeta dresses of the junior bridesmaids. They were Carol Cedarquist and Sally Sloop, nieces of the bride; they were dressed identically and carried a nosegay of white sweet-peas.

A reception was held at the Cedarquist home on Cumberland Drive after the church ceremony for the guests attending. Mrs. Cedarquist was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Bode and sister-in-law, Mrs. Arnold Bode. The table was lovely in a gold and white motif carried out with gold and white chrysanthemums and tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Soderquist left for a trip and will not be at home until after December first.

A miscellaneous shower in honor of bride-elect Miss Yvonne Schewepe was given November 13 by Miss Louise Osti at her home at 271 Grove Street. Thirty guests from Sierra Madre and Pasadena attended the party, presenting Miss Schewepe with a host of delightful gifts.

The decoration color scheme of pink and white was carried out even to the delicious ice cream cake decorated with wedding bells and roses. A most attractive replica of a complete wedding party in miniature, down to the satin pillow for kneeling, centered the refreshment table. Miss Osti was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Florence Brooks.

A scuttled World War I German battleship was raised and towed upside down for 200 miles from Scapa Flow to the Firth of Clyde.

Legion Dance Inaugurates Winter Fetes

An extensive program of American Legion winter activities was announced this week by Jack Shearer, Sierra Made Post Commander.

"We have decided on a really good Legion Dance for a starter, and have been fortunate in securing a popular service orchestra to furnish the music," Shearer said.

The dance scheduled for November 30 is to be co-sponsored by the Legion Auxiliary. Proceeds will go toward a special Christmas fund for locally hospitalized veterans, according to Roy E. Pickett, Legion Hospital chairman and Service Officer. Mrs. Walter Nollac, president of the Auxiliary group promises an abundance of appetizing refreshments during intermissions at the dance.

Another activity planned for the winter program is the formation of a competitive rifle team. A shipment of new service rifles has been received from the War Department for that purpose, Shearer said. The team will be under the direction of Arthur H. Embree of the Sierra Madre Police department who headed the local civilian home guard unit during the war years.

Special motion pictures, interesting speakers and a variety of other features have been scheduled by the veterans' group. "A keener interest in veterans' activities has been noticed of late," Shearer said. "The increased number of applications for Legion membership indicates a recognition by new veterans of the value of coming together for mutual benefit."

The Frog
TALKS about ROBERTS MARKET and Things

I have wished a bird would fly away.
And not sing by my house all day;

Have clapped my hands at him from the door
When it seemed as if I could bear no more.

The fault must partly have been in me;
The bird was not to blame for his key.

And of course there must be something wrong
In wanting to silence any song.

HAVE YOU NOT FELT AT TIMES like silencing the song of joy which should be in your heart, knowing all the while that you have more to rejoice about than anyone in the whole, wide world? What is this perversion of human nature which makes us cry when we should laugh? Is it the fear of things to come? And if so, to what degree does the little boy differ who keeps his courage up by whistling as he passes the cemetery at midnight?

SOMEHOW I THINK IT IS BETTER to feel as Florence Eakman does:

The faith we have will always bring
Each day's supply of everything.

TO REVERT TO BUSINESS, the nasty thing, it is the job of us gals—I am la Rana Verde you know—to cook the kind of food for you guys which will keep you happy and will perforce make you love us all the more! And that bounces right back at me, I hope, 'cause the "Home of the Green Frog" is, I hope, the only place to buy food, I hope! Get it?

I NEED NOT REMIND YOU THAT Thanksgiving Day is just around the corner. And I think it unnecessary to tell you—but I will—that HERE you will find all the good things which will make your feast everything you and your family can desire.

THIS BEING THE DAY WHEN Mom can best express herself at cooking, I think MOM'S own recipe for Roast Turkey with Walnut Dressing should be given:

Peel and quarter 3 medium onions, place in a saucepan with just enough water to keep from burning and cook until tender; cool and chop very fine. Mix onions with 5 cups of medium fine bread crumbs from white bread that has been toasted, 1 cupful of finely chopped tart apples, 1/2 cup of melted butter and a seasoning of salt, paprika, teaspoonful of thyme and marjoram, a tablespoon of chopped parsley and 1 cup of chopped walnut meats. This amount is for a 10-lb. turkey. Stuff the turkey with the dressing, sew and truss the bird, brush over either with melted shortening or a mixture of butter and flour. Place in a roasting pan, breast down, leaving the cover off, and pour around the turkey 1 cup of sherry wine. Put in a hot oven (450 degrees) until browned, then pour over it 1/2 cup of sherry; put the cover on the roaster, reduce the heat to 300 degrees and finish baking. Garnish the turkey with a border of red and green colored winter nells pears.

NECESSARY ADJUNCTS ARE fresh Green Beans or Broccoli with Hollandaise Sauce, Grapes or Olives, fresh Celery, Green Onions and Radishes, Cranberry Sauce, candied Yams, and Pumpkin or Mince Pie, and a good White Wine, either sparkling or plain.

THE REST IS UP TO YOU— but do you need more?

I KNOW THIS, FROM WHAT CLARE TELLS ME, our Turkeys will be better than ever before, which is saying a lot! They are fresh, drawn Toms and Hens, though if you want to buy them with the "innards" in 'em, well, that is OK with us! The price is right, the quality is exceptional, and they are guaranteed in every way. Turkeys will not be too plentiful, so you had better order now!

All this, and much more too—in Sierra Madre's Leading Store

"Role of the Jewish Citizen In Present Day Life" Subject Of Stalmaster Lecture, Thursday

Irvin Stalmaster will be the speaker at the open meeting of the San Gabriel Valley Jewish Center this evening, November 21st, at 8:00 p. m. at the Sierra Madre Temple. Dr. Nathan Jacobs, president, announced this to be the first of a series of adult programs of vital interest to the community which will be given at the Center.

Mr. Stalmaster is a noted speaker and prominent leader in Los Angeles community life and a member of many civic groups. He is a member of the Los Angeles Community Chest, Los Angeles Welfare Federation and President of the Pacific Coast Federation of Jewish Center Association. He received his degree from Nebraska where he was a member of the Supreme Court before coming to California in 1937. He is practicing law in Los Angeles and is representing management in industrial relations.

Mr. Stalmaster will speak on "The Role of the Jewish Citizen in Present Day Life."

A brief musical prelude will be presented by Sonia and Ahza Cohen, Sierra Madre pianists. Refreshments will follow the discussion. The public is invited to attend.

Noted Etcher

In organizing the Sierra Madre Municipal Art League and in getting the City Council chambers in city hall dedicated as "The Little Art Gallery." Coining the phrase "Art is as Free as Air," Hawxhurst became known all over the country for his efforts to promote a wider interest in the arts.

One of his most promising pupils in the 1930's was Bernard Wynne, who as a boy of 14 attracted nationwide attention for his paintings.

Combining art with inventive genius, Hawxhurst has patented countless new ideas since the telephone apparatus of the '90s. His most recent invention is the mechanical scarecrow, an ingenious device designed literally to drive marauding birds out of the garden. The inventor recently completed a test of the scarecrow's durability, by clocking the movements of its working parts. More than two and one half million movements were clocked on the counter, indicating that the device can frighten quite a few birds without tiring.

The scarecrow is made from a 15-foot length of bamboo equipped with flashing mirrors, and out of balance by a can full of stones. At the pole's opposite end, a scoop shaped can receives a flow of water. When the water overbalances the stones, the scarecrow goes into action, the water is dumped and hydraulic action again starts to build up the counter weight.

Hawxhurst has received patents on several types of automotive carburetors, on his own type of etching press and several types of mechanical exercisers.

Hawxhurst, the inventor, has contrived to make things more convenient for Hawxhurst the artist. For instance, his foot-controlled power easel, portable miniature "art gallery", and his leather-brush technique of painting have all created wide interest.

The artist-inventor has carried his motive for originality right to the front gate of his home. When the gate is opened, a hidden light switch lights the garden, an electric delay is set in motion opening the front door, and inside, a set of chimes announces the visitor's arrival.

Former Sierra Madreans Meet At Windsor, Eng.

November 19, 1946
The Editor,
Sierra Madre News,
Sierra Madre, California.
Dear Sir:

The following excerpt from a letter from Lester Fennel may be of interest to your listeners.

"At Windsor, the other day, I had a most interesting experience. I went with the purpose of finding a house and was to contact an agent named Mrs. Maxwell; it was then about one o'clock and as Mrs. Maxwell was busy until three I thought I would try to look up Sarah Schwartz. I could not remember her married name but it seemed to me that she had married a professor at Eton, so I walked over the Thames into the latter town, found the school office and perused the faculty list, expecting that if I saw the name it would strike me as familiar, but none did. At three I picked up Mrs. Maxwell and during the course of the drive out to the house I mentioned that I was trying to find an old school friend of mine but didn't know her married name, nor was I sure her husband was at Eton. She said, 'Oh, do you mean Sarah Lafevre?' She and I are good friends and live quite close to one another, and on the way back I'll drop you off at their house." Well, Sarah was in and of course I stayed for dinner, and what a time we had. She dragged out her album with all the old crowd, an Annual or two, and we had a riotous time."

Inasmuch as both Mrs. Lafevre and Mr. Fennel are old Sierra Madreans it occurred to me you might care to use this. Very truly yours, (Mrs.) Estelle H. Fennel.

On The Feminine Side

by Dorothy Collins
NBC Fashion Editor

Things usually happen like that. Some woman learns a trick with an eyebrow pencil, or a new way to tie a scarf and the first thing you know a fad has been started.

Now girls in radio are particularly smart this way. They are so busy that they have to find shortcuts. Then the next thing that happens their friends are copying these shortcuts.

Take pert Bonnie Baker—one of NBC's most attractive redheads. She hates going to bed at night with her hair bristling with bobby pins, so she discovered a way of rolling her hair in bright colored ribbons and tying them in perky bows, Topsy fashion. Now most of radio's glamour girls are going to bed with their hair put up in the same fashion.

Long before Vogue said the torso look was "new," Mary Shipp, who plays the part of Henry's girl friend on the "Aldrich Family", was wearing her sweaters in a long line over her hips to achieve a smooth unbroken torso look.

And another sweater-wise miss is Jane Wilson, who is wearing sweaters instead of blouses with evening skirts. Jane, who is one of the Fred Waring soloists, has these evening sweaters knitted with short cap sleeves and bits of beaded embroidery on the neck or sleeves.

In California, where bicycling is an accepted means of transportation, Barbara Fuller had the problem of what to wear to and from the studio. So one of the West's leading designers—DeDe Johnson—helped her out by designing a "Cloud Stroller" suit. The suit is as practical as a pair of pedal pushers because of the divided skirt, but it is so cleverly cut that it can be dressed-up with pumps and a hat and worn as a smart town outfit.

Halla Stoddard, blond and glamorous NBC actress, who played the lead in the Broadway play "Dream Girl," is always losing her hats. So the designer who makes hats for her exclusively now puts a band on the inside of all of them which says "designed for Halla Stoddard."

Betty Winkler, who plays the title role in "Joyce Jordan, M.D.," solved her lost hat problem in another way. She has designed a hood that buttons on to her coat, and she never loses this.

LUXURIOUS — For stark drama, Doris McWhirt of NBC's "Joyce Jordan, M.D." cast has chosen a Mme. Pauline turban with a scarf which completely swathes the neck.

DRAMA — The perfect theater hat is this Mme. Pauline halo hat in black plumes. It is modeled by Doris McWhirt, who plays in NBC's "Joyce Jordan, M.D." dramatic show.

A SAFE MINIMUM
Some eyes need more light than others, of course. Nevertheless, research has given us this safe minimum to go by: For reading, studying or other moderate eye work a lamp should be equipped with a bulb or bulbs totaling not less than 100 watts.

More than 31,000,000 motor vehicles, representing approximately 75 per cent of all the cars in the world today, are registered in the United States, according to information received by the Automobile Club of Southern California recently. The ratio in this country is 4.5 persons per automobile.

Vic Vet says

LISTEN, PAL! YOU CAN GET GI INSURANCE EVEN IF YOU DIDN'T HAVE IT WHILE IN SERVICE. CHECK YOUR NEAREST VA OFFICE FOR DETAILS.

ELEGANT — Flowing white ostrich feather, sparklingly highlighted with sequins, makes one of the most elegant dinner hats in Mme. Pauline's collection. Doris McWhirt, who plays in NBC's "Joyce Jordan, M.D." models it here.

BACKVIEW — Doris McWhirt, member of NBC's "Joyce Jordan, M.D." cast, shows a back view of Mme. Pauline's elegant ostrich plume hat trimmed in sequins.

alfalfa as a human food that he sold his newspaper business in South Dakota and devoted his full time to food research in this field. Since then he has supervised many research projects testing the value of this high protein plant as a palatable human food.

Nation wide attention has been drawn to the all-alfalfa menus which Bower has served at large public dinners and banquets throughout the country. Skeptics came to sample the alfalfa biscuits, layer cake and tea, and many went away to become enthusiastic adherents of this revolutionary food.

During World War II, Bower's "Alfalfa for People" plan was proposed as one means of adequately feeding the starving people in war-torn countries of Europe and Asia.

Bower reasoned that since alfalfa will grow clear around the world in the belt between 20 and 40 degrees north latitude, its use as human food would go far toward solving the problems of starvation and malnutrition in much of the world.

The local alfalfa authority says in this connection, that one ounce of alfalfa flour daily would furnish enough energy to restore an undernourished child to health.

Mr. Bower also has evidence that the calcium supplied by alfalfa may be an effective factor in arresting tuberculosis. With 600,000 children in Poland, alone, suffering from tuberculosis, the food chemist believes that it is time to recognize the value of this long-shunned source of healthful food energy.

Food authorities around the world have become interested in this proposal, and the local alfalfa authority has received recent letters from food officials in Austria and China, asking for detailed recommendations for their localities.

The Bower Family Laboratories, whose slogan has been, "Three generations at your service", now are represented by four generations, with the recent birth of Frank W. Bower's great-granddaughter.

Underscoring a firm belief in their own product the Bower family has eaten alfalfa as a regular thing in one or more of their daily meals for the past 30 years. To this fact they attribute a total lack of common colds of the head or lungs during the entire period.

CHRISTMAS SPENDING

Although a good many items are still scarce there is plenty of merchandise in stores to attract the dollars of customers, and indications are that this year's Christmas spending will break all records.

The cost of Christmas—the gifts and the celebration—invariably make father thankful that it comes only once a year. But with prices at their present level he'll undoubtedly be wishing it were a biennial holiday.

It's possible, of course, for father, or anyone else, to "beat the rap" or at least to soften the blow—financially speaking—by spreading the Christmas expense over the entire year. This can be done by saving a small amount out of each pay check and putting it in the bank.

One of the best features of putting money aside for Christmas is that it gets a person into the swing of saving regularly and this method is then likely to be applied to other purposes such as saving for travel, for a home or for the children's education.

It's a comfortable feeling to have some extra money for the Christmas season or any other.

GETTYSBURG

It is nearly another "four score and seven years" since the immortal Lincoln stood on the field at Gettysburg and delivered his famous address. To be exact, it was 83 years ago—November 19, 1863. Since then our country has seen not only the close of the Civil War, but the beginning and the end of three other wars. Since then vast changes have taken place in the economic and social structure both of our Nation and the world in general. Yet, Lincoln's words at Gettysburg are as applicable to our time as they were on that mid-November day more than eight decades ago. Today America, having waged a successful war, is called upon to wage a successful peace. Today, as in 1863, "It is for the living . . . to be rededicated . . . to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced." Today we must vigorously carry on the eternal fight for liberty and justice. Only by so doing can we make certain that "the Government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

VACATION TRAVEL

Figures released by the National Park Service leave no doubt that Mr. and Mrs. America and the children really "went places" in their first peacetime vacation year since 1941.

Virtually all national parks showed a big increase not only over the war years but over 1941 as well. Yosemite had more than 641,000 visitors, Sequoia 312,000, and Lassen 96,000.

The greatest attraction of all however was Boulder Dam which drew 1,171,136 tourists. Boulder really isn't a national park but that doesn't lessen its popularity.

Vacation travel is expected to be heavy again next year.

AROUND AND ABOUT

By Edward Lloyd Voorhees

SCOTLAND—Lights and shadows in Glasgow.

Just before I left Alloway, I went into the quaint little two-story pub under the sign "Tam o' Shanter Inn" and had a Scotch whiskey—but only for the memory of Tam and Robert Burns, since "Scotch" was not after the previous evening—on the fairly lengthy list of my favorite beverages. The bar was a small cozy room, where under the glow of the "wee nip" and the cordiality of the portly host, John Scott, and just to prove that Tam's fame lived on even outside of books, I bought some photo postcards of the place and addressed one to a former student and perpetual good friend of mine away back in Iowa, U.S.A., who had more than once chuckled over Burns' lively story of Tam's bewitched adventure. As I went into the street again I noticed on the front, between the upper and lower windows on either side of the door, two life-sized sculptured heads with the jolly smiling features of Robert and Tam; and, by a neighborly coincidence, just next door and above a driveway which ran under the second story of that house there was an ancient painted sign of curious interest which read:

STABLING.
YE OLD HOSTLERY
Burns and Cronin's Cab House.

This truth fand honest Tam o' Shanter . . . —but the rest of the old sign faded out, and so I went away without recalling precisely what it was that Tam had "fand" (found), though I suspected it had something to do with his old mare Maggie and "canter," which it did, but much more it dealt with his headlessness of his wife's advice.

An hour or so later, mid-afternoon, found me back in the roar, grime, and muck of the huge city of Glasgow. Losing no time, I fared forth to see the sights. The "blue tram" took me out to view the huge Queen's Dock and Prince's Dock on either side of the Clyde, which bisects the city from southeast to northwest, where I saw the great Canadian Pacific and Clyde Line passenger and freight vessels. I took the free ferry across the broad Clyde, and then for variety, in return, I took one of the six huge lifts (elevators) that go fifty feet down under ground, whence I walked back through the tunnel under the river—very wet and drippy and quite in character with everything else around that section. In going and returning I had good panoramic views of the vast ship-building hallways, with broken sidewalks, areaways ("closets") reeking with a muck of ashes, mud, and garbage trampled by half-clad children, pale with undernourishment, some of them disfigured by unbandaged head-sores. It was the Canongate section of Edinburgh's "Royal Mile" all over again—only immensely vaster, and lacking the at least "picturesque" surrounding panorama of Edinburgh's Rock, Castle, and old palaces. A well-informed university professor of sociology once told me that Glasgow has "the worst slums in the western world"—adding, by way of contrast, that Copenhagen, a city of almost 1,000,000 people has no slums at all. My own personal observations confirmed my belief that both the Professor's statements were correct.

I must, however, etch-in one bright memory which lingers with me when I recall the slums of Glasgow. As I was leaving this section and feeling sorry for all the poor under-privileged kids I had seen there, I came upon three ragged boys all under ten years of age who were industriously absorbed in digging out gobs of clay where the rain had washed away the upper turf from a section of a large sewer pipe, now exposed in the bank-side along the path. As I came upon them suddenly in their absorption, they eyed me fiercely for a moment until I smiled and said hello. Satisfied that I was not an officer of the law, they smiled back and went on digging out handfuls of the clay and putting it in an old rusty tin pail which had no handle to carry it by. "What will you do with the clay?" I asked. The oldest, a sturdy urchin, replied with a proud smile, "I'll gie it to me wee brother." "And will your wee brother do with it then?" I asked. "He'll make wee men," he said.

Parents Urged to Immunize Children For Diphtheria

Parents whose children have not been immunized against diphtheria in the past five years, and who did not have this done when the local schools were visited by health officials, are urged to take the children to their private physician or the local health center for this service. Dr. J. M. Furstman, Monrovia district health officer said as the final immunizations in schools are getting under way.

There have been no cases of diphtheria in Sierra Madre so far this year and no cases to the same date in 1945. "It is only by protecting children against this disease through immunization that it can be eradicated," the health officer pointed out.

The County health department suggests that children first receive the diphtheria shots between the ages of 6 and 12 months, again at five years and the final protection at 10 years.

ANSWERS ARE BELOW"

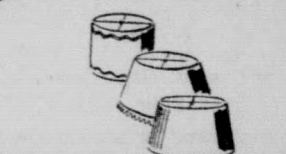

CORRECT ANSWERS

1. (b). Choose a flared or Empire shade wherever possible. It gives the widest spread of light. Conversely, the drum shade is the least generous with light, concentrating it around the lamp base.

2. (c). 20%, or one in five, of all school children have defective sight. Lighting experts agree that eyestrain from improper lighting for reading and study is a fundamental cause of eye defects in school children.

3. (b). Reading in a room lighted by only one lamp is injurious to eyes, causing glare from the page and gloom in the rest of the room. Eyestrain results from "contrast" glare. Always have at least one other lamp in the room lighted while reading.

1. A lamp shade diffuses light most efficiently when it has:
(a) Straight sides (drum shape).
(b) Flared sides (Empire shape).
(c) Oval shape

2. What percentage of school boys and girls under 20 have defective eyesight?
(a) 5%
(b) 10%
(c) 20%
(d) 35%

3. Does reading in a room entirely dark other than the light from an adequate reading lamp injure the eyes?
(a) No
(b) Yes

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA EDISON COMPANY

NEW INDUSTRY—Recently opened in Arcadia by M. K. Hopkins of 91 Vista Circle Drive. It is a post-war water conditioning plant. The Culligan Soft Water Service building was completed at 316 S. First Ave., Arcadia.

MODERN WATER SOFTENING PLANT OPEN FOR VALLEY-WIDE SERVICE BY LOCAL EXECUTIVE

More evidence of continuing post-war expansion and development on a substantial basis was reflected in the recent completion of the new building at 316 S. First avenue, Arcadia, which houses the offices and ultra-modern regeneration plant of the Culligan Soft Water Service Company.

With the completion of the building, Arcadia becomes one of the first cities in the United States to have such a post-war conditioning plant. It is reported that about 1000 such plants are scheduled to be in operation in various cities throughout the country by the end of the year.

The service, which has been in operation in Eastern and Mid-Western states since 1938, and reached the West Coast early in 1940, was delayed in expanding into California because of the war.

LOCAL SERVICE OFFERED

The new Arcadia plant now makes the water conditioning service available to the Arcadia-Monrovia and Sierra Madre areas and nearby communities. These-vice is a new adjunct to domestic life and economy and offers a solution to many water problems for commercial and industrial enterprises using boilers, sterilizers and similar equipment, according to M. K. Hopkins, 91 Vista Circle, part owner and general manager of the Arcadia plant.

PRIORITY GIVEN REQUESTS
Requests for installation of the service already are taxing the facilities of the installation department of the company, but filter-softener units will be installed in homes and business places as rapidly as possible and in the order in which requests are received, according to Hopkins.

No chemicals are used in the process and the water retains all of its original qualities except the hardness, which is removed during the filtering and softening process, he said, and predicted the service will be popular not only in homes, but in many cafes, dairies, dry cleaning establishments, beauty shops, barber shops and other businesses using water.

TELLS A STORY
In an interview this week Hopkins told the story of water softening and conditioning.

"In the early stages of Soft Water Service back in 1938, it was introduced largely on luxury appeal as being the ultimate in bathing, shampooing, etc., but experimental work and research in recent years have brought out many important findings affecting commercial and industrial activities and domestic life.

"Until recently people have accepted water pretty much as they found it without benefit of being able to do anything about it.

"Now they are rapidly learning that healthy sanitary soft water is available at low cost and that by using it they can greatly improve their living conditions through foods, clothing, cleanliness, sanitation and reduced domestic efforts.

"The rapid, enthusiastic and nationwide Culligan Soft Water Service by the many economies discovered and enjoyed by users and recognition of the fact that the economies effected far exceed the cost of re-conditioned water. As a result, Culligan Soft Water Service is recognized as a well-proven public service in a rapidly broadening field through public demand."

HUMAN SIDE OF IT

On the human side of soft water, Hopkins said: "Enthusiasm for soft water is no longer confined to housewives just because it was they who had to struggle with hard water in accepted domestic drudgery before the advent of conditioned water. Now the man of the house opines that soft water coffee, shaves and baths are 'really something' and 'worth it' in addition to 'keeping the Mrs. happy in the lightened tasks of cleaning about the home'."

PERSIMMON TIME

Now is the time of the year when persimmon trees are loaded down with their delicate orange fruit and we are searching everywhere for recipes to make use of them during the abundant season. Persimmons can be served in a variety of ways, all of which add a characteristic flavor not to be found in many of our varieties of fruit.

When combined in salads with such fruit as avocados, oranges, grapefruit, peaches and pears, persimmons give a pleasing bit of zip to our autumn menus. Sherbets and ice creams served in the last warm days of the season leave us with pleasant thoughts of summer days. And we mustn't omit persimmon pudding and cookies which can be made from both fresh and dried fruit.

PERSIMMON SHERBET

1 C. persimmon pulp
1/4 C. orange juice
1 Tbsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. grated lemon rind
1 egg white
2 Tbsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. salt

Combine first four ingredients and freeze to a pulp in refrigerator tray. Whip in chilled bowl with chilled beater and fold in meringue made of egg white, sugar and salt. Freeze to desired firmness.

PERSIMMON PUDDING

2 Tbsp. margarine
1/2 C. sugar
1/2 C. persimmon pulp
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1 C. flour sifted
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. soda
1/4 C. sweet milk
1 C. raisins
1/2 C. nutmeats

Cream fat and sugar; stir in persimmon pulp and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together and add to the mixture with alternate portions of milk. Add raisins, nutmeats. Steam in well-oiled covered mold (one pound coffee can) 1 1/2 quart capacity, for 1 1/2 hours at 350. Serve with hot lemon sauce.

Have the Cookie Jar Well Stocked for The Holidays

One might almost say that the holiday season begins with Thanksgiving Day! There's such a short time between Thanksgiving and Christmas; and home-makers are busy with advance preparations in the kitchen department.

Right now, and throughout the holiday season, it will be handy to have a supply of delicious cookies ready for quick family desserts, lunch boxes, and entertaining. Refrigerator cookies are the handiest of all, for the dough can be kept for several days and the cookies fresh-baked as they are needed.

These Refrigerator Mincemeat Cookies are really "different." They're sweet and spicy, yet it takes only one cup of sugar to make four dozen cookies. They're extra rich and flavorful because they are made with lard. In short, they're worth trying, right away!

REFRIGERATOR MINCEMEAT COOKIES

3/4 cup lard
1 cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup mincemeat
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Cream lard, add sugar and beaten egg, and mix well. Sift dry ingredients together and add to creamed mixture with lemon rind, vanilla, mincemeat and chopped nuts. Shape into roll 2 inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper and place in refrigerator until thoroughly chilled. Slice thin. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) for 10 minutes. Yield: 4 dozen cookies.

Footlight foursome that roams the far fields of playdom is the playgoing prospect as Pasadena Playhouse lists the Winter play schedule.

Arthur Laurents' smash drama, "Home of the Brave" opens the series from Nov. 27 to Dec. 8. South Pacific is the scene of action in a power-laden story of a dangerous mission and the men involved. Dan Levin directs.

OLD FAVORITE TIMELY NOW

There are no complaints from the family when Spaghetti and Meat Balls play the main dish role at dinner. So keep this popular dish in mind, for times when ground beef is the only fresh meat you can buy. A little meat goes a long way in small, juicy meat balls; and spaghetti extends the good beef flavor still more.

Traffic Jams

Did you ever notice a highway approach to a big city during the closing hours of a beautiful week-end? Jammed with traffic, cars bumper to bumper.

Did you ever visit a telephone switchboard room during the peak hours? Same kind of thing. Switchboards jammed with traffic, calls being put through as fast as possible but some delayed because of the pile up of messages standing bumper to bumper.

That's what is going on in telephone exchanges all over the nation today. But when telephone companies get their new switchboards and other equipment, the traffic jams will be relieved and calls will flow over the highways of speech smoothly and without delay.

YOUNG MISS GREECE—and her sister, too—eagerly watch grandmother Kakavias of Corinth open a Greek War Relief Association 35-lb. food parcel. Any American, like the generous Greece merely sends the Kakavias, wanting to supply food to starving Greece merely sends $12.75 to the Association in New York City and that night his order is telegraphed overseas. In a few days a hungry Greek family is eating nutritious, staple foods. In addition to the parcel service, GWRA launches this winter a $12,000,000 fund-raising campaign to build 40 health centers; to house and feed 375,000 war orphans; and to supply a warm, noonday meal to almost 2 million hungry school children.

YOUNGEST ORATOR... Mile.
Pierre Thomas, 19, is shown speaking at the meeting of the French Republican women in Paris de la Mutualite, Paris. A member of the Independent Socialist party, she is France's youngest political orator.

FIRE FLAMES

Much of the excess energy of those firemen, who possess such a treasure, will be consumed in the next few weeks trying to sell tickets for the forthcoming outstanding event of the year, the FIREMEN'S CHRISTMAS
DANCE AND CARD PARTY.
Those who have lived here beyond the time of last Christmas are not surprised to see a fireman at their door in the early evening near Christmas. This has been going on for many, many years.
The manner in which our folks have received us is very encouraging to continue with the customary Party. The profits from this affair are used to buy upplies or stockings to be filled with Christmas goodies and to see that no one in town goes without a good and substantial Christmas dinner. None of this money is used for fire department expenses or for the individual expense of any fireman.
Without the annual TREE and TREAT at the CITY PARK, Christmas would not be real in Sierra Madre. All the children in town are urgently invited to come to the park on Christmas EVE and get a stocking filled with goodies and see the lighted tree and Santa Claus. It has been a practice to start the presentation of stockings at 7:00 p.m. and without other entertainment, in order that children can return to their homes in good time for their home parties. All in all, BE ON THE LOOKOUT FOR A FIREMAN AT YOUR DOOR AT ANY TIME NOW. The rains have done wonders. So think the firemen. Winds and dry weather are what firemen worry about. We don't like fires, even tho' we do like to put them out.
Green grass coming thru gives us all a feeling of relief. Some people have been taking advantage of this condition and doing burning which is all well and good, providing you have inquired at the fire station for a permit.
Season and weather do not control that end of the contract, so you had best notify the firemen before burning out of doors.
There are times that even though the ground is covered with wet and green growth, nearby materials can "take off". Let US be the "goat". If you want to burn up some of that old trash, now is the time. BUT PLEASE GIVE US A BUZZ OR CALL!

Ask Research For Control Of New Pest

As a means of saving millions of dollars in pest control costs, directors of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce yesterday asked the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the University of California to conduct necessary research on the Mexican bean beetle, first discovered in California last summer.
The beetles are now controlled with insecticides—an expensive means, and Chamber of Commerce directors were informed that delay might result in sufficient spread of the beetles to make their elimination impossible.

GEORGE B. HANSON
Appointment of George B. Hanson as passenger traffic manager for Southern Pacific Company at Los Angeles, effective December
1, was announced today by Claude
E. Peterson, vice president in charge of system passenger traffic for the railroad.
The elevation of Hanson from the position of general passenger agent, which he has held since 1939, comes as recognition of the growing importance of Southern California in transportation matters, as well as of his work here.
Hanson is a director of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and of the All Year Club of Southern California; area
chairman of the Community Chest, and is active in many other civic and transportation organizations. He has worked for Southern Pacific since June 1, 1907.

SAWS WOOD, WRITES BOOK

The fact that he is totally blind hasn't prevented Monroe L. Fox, above, from maintaining a heavy work schedule. Owner of a dude ranch near Chama, New Mexico, purchased through a Veterans Administration-approved loan, the ex-Seabee rides, saws wood, does carpentry work and has written a book. The blast from a Jap bomb blinded Fox on Iwo Jima.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Decker of Redlands were guests at the home of their son, Joe H. Decker, 244 W. Highland, Tuesday.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Mitsuo S. Kunihiro, 140 Merrill Ave., November 5th at St. Luke's hospital.

Local Man

was more truly representative of "T. R." than any other which was ever done.

An etching which he did of President Woodrow Wilson, and a letter which the sketch evoked from the World War I President, have created wide interest. The etching portrayed the president in uniform, carrying out his role of commander-in-chief, with the text of one of his most important presidential proclamations in the background.

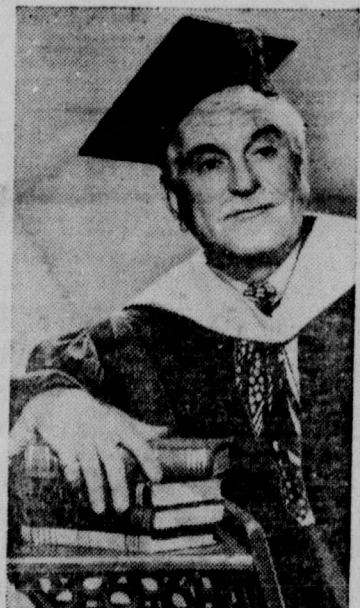

The presidential letter thanked the artist but asked that the picture not be published, since under the Constitution, the president's role of commander-in-chief of the military forces was clearly defined as a civilian role only.

This letter was used as court evidence early this year in New York to defeat efforts by the heirs of Franklin D. Roosevelt to secure a veteran's tax exemption for the late president's estate. "One Midnight With Roosevelt," is Dr. Wall's account of a visit at the Theodore Roosevelt home at Oyster Bay, N. Y. early in World War I.

Wall, who as chief of staff to the National Commander, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was accredited with the raising of the Battleship Maine which was sunk in Havana harbor during the Spanish-American War, had been invited to the Roosevelt home. Accompanied by a party of friends, including Admiral Sigsbee, who had commanded the Maine, and her former chaplain, Monsignor Chidwick, Wall started out from Columbus Circle in New York City, but the party became lost on the way and did not arrive at Sagamore Hill until 10 o'clock in the evening.

The Roosevelt home was dark on their arrival, and the party hesitated to approach the house. They rang the door bell which was answered by Mrs. Roosevelt, who ushered them into "T. R.'s" presence. The former president greeted them warmly and waved away their apologies for being late.

Until after midnight, the party of visitors conversed with "T. R.", reminiscing on the Spanish-American War. One of the group presented the former commander of the "Rough Riders" with a pistol salvaged when the Maine was raised. These incidents and others are pictured in the book portraying that memorable night visit with Theodore Roosevelt.

Returning from Cuba after the Spanish-American War, where he fought with the 22nd New York Volunteers, Wall educated himself, and became a commercial artist. In 13 years he turned out more than 5000 different commercial designs.

Turning to the medium of etching, Wall did mostly military subjects until the end of World War

1, when war subjects suddenly became a drug on the market.

Seeking for a fresh subject for a book, the etcher was in a bookshop on New York's Madison Avenue one day when he noticed a small dog with an unusually appealing face. Shortly afterward the owner of the shop returned from lunch, and the dog went wild with joy, leaping upon him and barking ecstatically. The lines of "Man's Best Friend" came to Wall's mind and he told the book-seller that he planned doing a book on his dog. The man was pleased and told of how the dog was named "Chris" because he came to him on Christmas Day.

The book was etched around the famous plea made to a jury on behalf of a dog, by Senator Vest of Missouri. It was an immediate success and was the beginning of many books.

The New York World-Telegram later commented that the book-seller's dog "Chris" was the only dog that ever moulded a man's career, for it was the impetus of this book that started Wall etching in earnest.
